BIO

Egyptian architect and spatial researcher working at the intersection of architecture, landscape architecture, urban studies, sound mapping, digital archiving, and community-based design. My work combines rigorous research with creative practice, focusing on informal urbanism, heritage, ecological thinking, decolonial methodologies, and multisensory approaches to place-making.

Currently completing a Master of Landscape Architecture at the University of Greenwich in London, where my dissertation Strangers in the City: Worlding, Estrangement, and the Practice of Place was awarded distinction. Experienced in GIS, exhibition curation, workshop facilitation, digital fabrication, translation, and collaborative research across academic, cultural, and community contexts.

Key achievements include:

- Shortlisted applicant for the British Council Venice Fellowships Programme 2025.
- Recipient of the Cairo Design Award 2024 as part of the CLUSTER team.

Research Interests

Urban Estrangement and Belonging, Informal Urbanism, Ruination and Decay, Sound and Sensory Urbanism, Decolonial Urban Theory, Landscape Architecture and Ecology, Heritage and Critical Archival Practices, Spatial Storytelling and World-Building, Migration, Displacement, and Territorial Identity, Decolonising Spatial Knowledge.
